American Psychological Association and Trammell Crow Select Genesis Security For Security Upgrade

The American Psychological Association (APA) and their property management firm, The Trammell Crow Company, have selected Genesis Security Systems LLC of Germantown Maryland to upgrade their current security system with Software House's CCURE One Plus to the latest version of the CCURE 800 System.

As part of the security upgrade, the APA will also be implementing a CCURE-ID digital photo-identification and badging system for its employees. The CCURE-ID is an integral part of the Software House CCURE 800 system, seamlessly sharing a single database.

According to Michael Newhouse at APA, the reason for changing to both a new vendor and a new solution was "To reduce operating costs, update older technologies and, most important, improve service and response times. We need same day response plus someone who will help us make the right decisions. That's what Genesis brings to the table."

As part of this project, Genesis Security Systems will be integrating other properties managed by Trammell Crow Company into the same system.
