Genesis Security Systems Increases Sales 50% in 2005; Continues to Have Major Impact On Security Market

Genesis Security Systems LLC, a privately-owned security integration firm headquartered in Germantown, Maryland, announces that it has increased sales in 2005 by more than 50%. Founded three years ago by the former owners and employees of GIC, Genesis provides and maintains electronic security systems for corporations, associations, and government agencies in the Washington Metro area as well as throughout the United States.

Several key accomplishments of Genesis in 2005 include:

- Expansion of Client Base. Dozens of local well-known companies began working with Genesis in 2005 because they wanted one thing--responsive, customer-first service. Some of our new clients include: CACI, General Dynamics, Raytheon, EMC and Spaulding & Slye, to name a few.
- Expansion of Employees and Offices. During 2005, Genesis increased our technical workforce by 60% and working office space by 30%.
- One of the Largest Security Systems Integrators in DC Metro Area. Within three years of beginning operations, Genesis has grown to become one of the largest "true" security systems integrators in the DC Metro area. Plus, Genesis is an American-owned firm.

According to Alan Kruglak (SVP at Genesis), "2005 has been an incredible year for our team. By staying true to our business model of delivering high-quality systems and service, we have been able to create a great place to work and great partner for our clients."
